LBCC Equestrian Team Heads to Nationals

The Linn-Benton Community College Equestrian team took second place overall this year for the region, finishing behind Oregon State University but beating the University of Oregon, Washington State University, University of Washington, Seattle University, Western Washington University, the University of British Columbia, and the University of Victoria.

The team went on to compete in the semi-finals in Kentucky last weekend, where all three riders qualified for the nationals. Riders include LBCC students Jason Peacock, Alex Fitch and Larissa Bjornsen.

The team will go on to compete in the national equestrian competition held in Tennessee at the end of April. LBCC's equestrian team is the only community college team to compete from this region, and this is the fourth year the team has qualified for the nationals.
